MAY

Matsudo Week Exhibition Yukito Ueno: Impressions of Japan

4 May – 17 May
Opening Thursday 7 May, 6.30pm – 8.30pm

Artist Yukiko Ueno presents 'Impressions of Japan', an exhibition to celebrate Matsudo Week in the City of Whitehorse. This exhibition features Japanese landscapes in Spring, including the famous blossom trees, a striking contrast to the rugged Australian landscape. Yukiko uses the art medium of painting to express her emotions to the world around her. Using warm and vibrant colours, she creates paintings that truly reflect Japan. These oil paintings are sure to inspire one to travel to places far and wide.

The City of Whitehorse has a Sister City Relationship with Matsudo, a Japanese city on the outskirts of Tokyo. The relationship was developed by the former City of Box Hill in 1971 and was continued by the City of Whitehorse in 1994, when local governments in Victoria amalgamated.

The two cities participate in an active exchange program for young people, which strengthens cultural understanding and promotes friendly relations. The relationship also promotes economic development opportunities between the two countries. This exhibition is a celebration of this enduring Sister City Relationship.

This exhibition will be teamed with images from the City of Whitehorse Art Collection.

Sustainability Week Exhibition Cristina Popovici Art School: The Clock Strikes Thirteen

18 May – 5 June
Opening Thursday 21 May, 6.30pm – 8.30pm

'The Clock Strikes Thirteen' displays artwork by children aged between nine to thirteen from the Cristina Popovici Art School. The students were inspired and passionate about the current environmental crisis we are facing today and thus their artwork explores what a forest looks like after humanity has run out of time. This thought provoking exhibition by budding artists, which embraces creativity in all forms uses a range of materials including drawings on paper, mix media on boards and painting on canvas, depicting styles such as impressionism, surrealism, contemporary doodling and automatic drawing. The students were challenged to create artwork that is powerful when standing alone yet works harmoniously together, as one body of work.

The City of Whitehorse encourages its community to make simple changes to the way they live so that they can have a positive impact on their lifestyle, and the environment. Sustainability Week runs from May 14 to May 24 where a more sustainable way of life is promoted. The City of Whitehorse is committed to contributing to a robust, equitable, and environmentally sustainable society.

ARTIST IN RESIDENCE

5

Steven Firman

February – December

Steven Firman is a multidisciplinary artist specialising in many mediums including painting, ceramics and shortfilm. Steven has several diplomas and degrees that have enhanced his natural artistic ability and allowed him to gain skills and knowledge to underpin his works of art.

Steven comes to Box Hill, after sharing studios at Burrinja Arts Centre in Upwey for over three years. An example of the paintings he produced there is Dresden Doll, where the tonal depiction of a clock maker and his newly aware creation contrast with the brightly coloured shapes in the background. Recently, hand built ceramics have depicted weighty topics such as climate change in playful, colourful ways, eg. Frog in a Pot.

He is currently producing a Yarra Ranges funded short film, Egg3 (cubed) - an absurdist take on a world where Science has improved on Nature to make mutant chooks that lay cube-shaped eggs. Of course, Steven is completely hands on - creating the script, sets, props, masks, costumes and puppets.

At Box Hill Community Arts Centre, Steven plans to work with embedded arts groups, eg weavers, painters, Tai Chi, choir as well as classes from a local Secondary School. He hopes to explore themes such as where have we come from – colonisation of Australia (set at Schwerolt Cottage), where are we now – rapid consumerist expansion (skyscraper in Box Hill!), and what do we want our future to look like?

Celtic Jam

A celtic jam session is an informal get-together to socialise and share music with others, crossing all social and demographic boundaries. No sheet music or music stands needed, musicians simply come together and learn tunes from each other. It's a popular custom that has stood the test of time.

Celtic Jam continues this tradition. We're a diverse group of instrumentalists who play and share tunes we love, all by ear. And true to our Australian melting-pot culture, these tunes come from Ireland, Scotland, Australia, eastern Canada... all corners of the Celtic world. Music will also be given out at the end of each session, so if you have never learnt by ear before, don't panic! If you have some tunes you love playing, bring them along to share. We also play gigs regularly throughout the year. Celtic Jam is always open to new players.

Accompaniment players – bodhran, piano, guitar – please get in touch with Judy first. $10 / $5
